

Better choices for everyday living.

Sky

The enduring sky is the crown of our earth. It nourishes our crops, feeds our rivers and fuels our emotions. It inspires poetry, romance and daydreams.

We rise and sleep by the sky. We make plans by the sky. No other elemental force touches so many aspects of our daily lives.

We live under this sky and it is ours to protect.

SKYE

We are committed to creating the finest lifestyle products without compromising quality, safety or the environment. You'll see it in every aspect of our organization — from research and development, to engineering, to our customer service. And of course, you'll see it in our diverse range of consumer products.

SKYE designs unparalleled functionality into everyday appliances to make life better for you and your family. We want you to spend quality time living your life, so we focus on how our products can make your life just a little bit better. Whatever innovation SKYE creates, it is always with the goal of providing better products with more functionality for you and your family — products so durable that they will serve you in this decade and beyond. SKYE products are truly in a class of their own — designed to outperform and outlast any competitor.

SKYE focuses on engineering to ensure superior products that will last for generations. But our passion drives us deeper. We increase our customers' quality of life with innovations they can count on to make daily life better for the whole family. SKYE products work harder and smarter to deliver an unprecedented level of functionality and reliability.
